Meditation:
But the people thirsted there for water; and the people complained against Moses and said, "Why did you bring us out of Egypt, to kill us and our children and livestock with thirst?" So Moses cried out to the LORD, "What shall I do with this people?" (Exodus 17.3—4a)

Reflection:

The slaves thought their liberation from Egypt would immediately plop them down in the Promised Land - but God's first freedom act was deliverance into the severe and harsh wilderness.

Nancy Hastings Sehested

True liberation delivers us from all that binds us, diminishes us, and enslaves us. This holy word springs from God's ever-flowing freedom fountain. It was the word from Jesus offered to the societally defined and disregarded Samaritan woman at the well: "Whoever drinks from the water that I shall give will never thirst; the water that I shall give will become in them a spring of water welling up to eternal life"

(Jn 4.14).
